Flowers For Algernon

Charlie, a lovable retarded man of thirty-two, grew up in a family whose mother refused to accept the fact that her son was retarded. As a result Charlie is put in the Warren State Mental Hospital. Charles is released to his Uncle Herman and spends the next 17 years working at a bakery owned by friends of Uncle Herman.

Charlie attends a night school for retarded adults. His teacher, Miss Kinnian, hears about the experimental brain surgery going on at Beekman University. Charlie undergoes this surgery and like the test mouse Algernon, becomes a super genius. There is, however, an unseen flaw in the hypothesis. Can Charlie find the flaw? Is there time to reverse the mistake?

Walk-a-thon 1983

On one cool April Wednesday, students, faculty, and friends trudged 25 miles from Fort Wayne back to the HUB which resulted in many blisters and sore muscles. It was well worth it, however, because over 30,000 dollars were raised on the walk-a-thon this year's spring project. This money was then matched by an anonymous donor and the entire sum was applied to the "American Dream", the challenge of paying off the college's debt. PRAISE GOD!!
